Report from Week 1009

in which we asked for passages written about a person using only the letters in his or her name: Lots of responses, including a few that someone could actually manage to read. And out of 60 entries on her shortlist, 11 of them were found to contain letters that were not in the person’s name — as many as three different wrong letters in a single entry. Thanks to Losergeeks Steve Langer and Jeff Contompasis for coming up with fast, nifty ways to check for invalid letters.

Of nominal interest: Honorable mentions

George Washington: He was a great one, a wise one, the shining star o’ the new nation. OTOH, tho there was no terror on his estate, there were no wages either. (Elden Carnahan, Laurel)

Seth MacFarlane: A shameless, tasteless telecast falls flat. “Tea-bee — men see actresses’ ta-ta-s!” (The real threat: Letterman feels he earns a fresh chance.) (Diane Wah)

Manit Teo: Main man on team. Neat tattoo. Manial Nominee! Mention intimate emotion (“Te amo!” — inanimate mate). No, no, no — an imitation! It ain’t no one! (Am I into men?) (Ben Aronin, Arlington)

William Howard Taft: What? Too fat? A load of land? Ha! I will root for him to roar, to dart forward, to thwart T.R. (Mark Raffman, Reston)

Winner of the coin purse made from a whole Australian cane toad:

Angus MacGyver: Uses sunscreen, a car gauge, muscus, an eraser, mascara, a cane, garbage grease, a N.Y. egg cream, gum — unarms a gang, rescues a granny, saves a nun. Vacuums mess. Cures cancer. (Kevin Doptar, Washington)

Brigham Young: Bigamy? Ha! I’m marrying Miriam, Mary, Ann, Hannah, Amy . . . all were Young’s actual wives! (Chris Dudley, Powder, Tex.)

Hillary Rodham Clinton: Lay road to nomination: To Do:
- Find rich, rich donor (critical!)
- Traction on Hill? Am I too chilly to Harry and Nancy?
- Mr. Clinton? Hard to ditch (control him!)
- Call in additional chit (or many, ha ha)
- Command military. Cool! Rarin’ to do it.
- Lid on it till May. Tell CNN to chill.
- Man, I can nail it! (David Melling, Washington)

Genghis Khan: Asian seeks geisha, sake, (Ha!) Gains neighing nags, nagging hags, shanghaiing gangs. Sees shahs, sheikhs, kings, Assassin sinks his aging heinein. (Kevin Doptar)

Mel Gibson: Me? Imbibing on bingo? Loosening noisome ribels? Ogling bosoms? No! I’m noble! I’m Mel being Mel! (Mark Raffman)

Clarence Thomas: Ne’er a comment (other than that one snort at the ol’ alma mater). No one’s loss. (Danielle Nowlin, Woodbridge)

Herman Cain: I’m an ace in an American chain, a mean machine. I ran in a race, each man an anemic, harmin’ arch-enema — ha ha! I am merrier, richer — and Iran! Hear I’m a cinch? Hear I care? Merci, amil! (Cameraman, reach an’ enhance me here.) Her main charm? Her chin, her carmine mane. Her niece? Nicer. Her mamma? Hairier. Rein me in, I’m a chimin’ ham! (Diane Wah, Seattle, a First Offender)

Kate Middleton: At nineteen I met and dated a man, an eminent man. It entailed immediate media attention — a lot. Tittle-tattle made me into a national idol. (I liked it!) Meantime I modeled. I initiated an intimate tete-a-tete (i.e., a little nacked rookie). It led to a diamond, a tied knot and an elated nation. A blève, too! (Chris Dudley)

Rush Limbaugh: Shhhhh. (Roger Dalrymple, Gettysburg, Pa.)

And last: Pat Myers: Empress sees my mastery? Rates me as a star? Mm-mm . . . Spears me, tears apart my art, reaps my tears? Yes. (Mark Raffman)

Still running — deadline Monday night — is our contest for current-events limericks. See bit.ly/invite1012.

Who was postwar Germany’s great champion of daylight-saving time?

Adenauer (Elden Carnahan)

Is that CNN anchorman hot, or what? Oh yeah, Paula Zahn fire! (Dave Zarrow)

What did the singer say to Sadat? All Liz Hair in love, Anwar! (Chris Dudley)

In the Empress’s earlier incarnation as a copy editor in The Post’s Style section, part of the job was to write headlines containing puns and other wordplay (one of her proudest achievements: For a story about someone whose job was to monitor people who were giving urine samples for drug testing, she wrote “Looking Out for Number One”; and the same day, for a story about someone who had to clean out portable toilets, “Waste Is a Terrible Thing to Mind.” Thank you.) But even in Style, the copy editors were warned: Don’t make puns on people’s names. It’s lame and tacky.

This week, write a riddle that uses a pun of a person’s name in the answer, as in the gleefully groany examples above that got ink in our previous go at this contest in 2002. You can see the original answers on the Master Contest List at NRARS.org, the Losers’ Web site (click on Week 442, where the results are); you won’t risk duplicating them if you use people who’ve gained their fame in the past decade.

Winner gets the Inkin’ Memorial, the Lincoln-statue bobblehead that is the official Style Invitational trophy. Second place receives the very fine Fanny Bank, which consists of a pair of plastic jeans with something resembling a plastic butt sticking out of the top; dropping a coin in the slot (conveniently located in the something-like-a-butt) generates an electronic fart noise. Donated by Loser Cheryl Davis, who seems to possess hundreds of prize-worthy pieces of embarrassalia. (See the Style Conversational at bit.ly/conv1013 for a video clip.)

Other runners-up win their choice of a yearned-for Loser Mug or the ardently desired Grossery Bag. Honorable mentions get a lusted-after Loser magnet. First Offenders receive a smelly, tree-shaped air “freshener” (FireStink for their first ink). E-mail entries to losers@washpost.com or fax to 202-334-4312. Deadline is Monday, March 25; results published April 14 (online April 11). No more than 25 entries per entrant per week. Include “Week 1013” in your e-mail subject line or it might be ignored as spam. Include your real name, postal address and phone number with your entry. See contest rules and guidelines at wapo.st/winvrules. The subhead for this week’s honorable mentions is by Brad Alexander. Join the lively Style Invitational Devoos group on Facebook at on.fb.me/invdev.
