New contest for Week 1111: When you riff on a stover

A woman’s door desk—the wpa.com version has been described as something that’s a real dinner for two; please leave me as two separate files, thanks—put a little heart and soul into those essays you write for The Style Invitational Devotees: (Kevin Dopart, The Washington Post)

Dear Amy: I am one of the many women who are questioning whether they should get a hysterectomy in the near future. I am 35 years old and am about to enter menopause. I am experiencing severe pelvic pain and bleeding. I have been diagnosed with endometriosis and fibroids. I have been advised by my doctor to consider a hysterectomy as a treatment option. However, I am hesitant because I have not researched the long-term effects of the procedure. I am also concerned about the impact it may have on my future fertility. What are your thoughts on this? New cars on test drive:

- A new model of the Tesla Model S has been unveiled with improved battery life and increased autonomy.
- A new version of the Ford Mustang has been released with enhanced performance and a more aggressive exterior design.
- A new compact SUV from Hyundai, the Kona, has been launched with advanced features and a sporty look.
- A new luxury sedan from Mercedes-Benz, the S-Class, has been revealed with a refined interior and enhanced technology.
- A new electric vehicle from BMW, the i4, has been introduced with a long range and fast charging capabilities.

Dear Amy: I have a friend who is constantly online on her phone. She spends hours on social media and ignores everyone around her. I have tried to talk to her about it, but she doesn’t seem to care. What can I do to help her? (Anonymous)

Dear Amy: I am a high school student and I am feeling overwhelmed with my school workload. I have a lot of assignments due in the next few weeks, and I am struggling to keep up with everything. I have tried to manage my time better, but it seems like there is never enough time. How can I cope with the pressure? (Anonymous)

Dear Amy: I am a single parent and I am feeling incredibly isolated. I have no family or friends to support me, and I feel like I am carrying the burden of raising my child on my own. I am struggling to find ways to cope with the stress and loneliness. What can I do to improve my situation? (Anonymous)

Dear Amy: I am a college student and I am feeling anxious about my future. I am unsure about what major to choose and I am worried about finding a job after graduation. I have tried to research different options, but I feel overwhelmed and unsure of what to do. How can I make decisions about my future? (Anonymous)

Dear Amy: I am a recent graduate and I am feeling anxious about the job market. I have been looking for a job for months, but I haven’t had any success. I feel like I am failing and I am not sure what to do next. How can I overcome my anxiety and find a job? (Anonymous)

Dear Amy: I am a single parent and I am feeling anxious about my child’s future. I am concerned about their education and future career. I want to make sure they have a good life, but I am not sure how to achieve that. What can I do to ensure my child’s success? (Anonymous)
