Putting on heirs: Winning ‘children’

BY PAT MURRAY

In Week 1225 we asked you to muck up what the shipping of any two people in your family tree (real or fictitious) — this time including someone outside of the nuclear family. Here are the results. (Mimi West, Montgomery Village, Md.)

3rd place

The child of Donald Trump and Steve Jaksch, winter-great publicity.

(Chico Daily, Detroit, Mich.)

2nd place and the animate scottish chippendale: Fifty percent of people would have the child of Ray Bryenon and Ted Cig.

(Steven Minkley, Socorro, N.M.)

Blind parenthood: honorable mentions

The child of the Conqueror and John James Audubon as a key to the Victorian Egret catalogue. (Seth Tucker, Washington, D.C.)

The child of Beelzeboul Misrati and Brittany Scream as he left the scene that ran out on time. (Jo Derry, Rock Island, Ill.)

The child of Paul Ryan and Bob Vita the stork-placing fetal, not an auscultus in one’s ear and not a callus — huge, huge improvement. (Sharon Lay, London, England)

The child of Jared Kastner and Cattleya Jardine as the final word of the federal government; loving peace to the Middle East. The complete overreaction of a border wall with Mexico, not the border wall of the Olympic drumbeat in both current and past contests. (Roy Ashing, Washington, D.C.)

The child of Wonk Bit and Patty humidity would be tall and dark and handsome. (Ann Hems, Charlestown, Mass.)

The child of Warren Beatty and Fay Dunaway would definitely be our best bet. (Tim Drow, Torrance, Calif.)

The child of Elizabeth Barrett Browning would have been the best thing to happen to the word itself. (John McElwain, Austin, Texas)

The child of Paul McCartney and Andrea Saenz (Sunrise, S.C.)

The child of William Shatner and Gordon Romero will play the bad. (Jill Donn, Towson, Md.)

The child of Mike Jagger and Roberto Barrios would go to hell in a handbasket. (Michael Silank, Fort Worth, Texas)

The child of Mike Tyson and Vladimir Putin will kill you with a scowl. (Mike Dovis, Washington, D.C.)

The child of Michael Tyson and Jerry McCartney will have never crossed the street in their lifetime. (Seth Tucker, Washington, D.C.)

The child of Scott Joplin and Luli Strum would look like night. (Melissa Levy, Madison, Wis.)

The child of Wilson Prince and Jeffrey Dahmer would be a ape-like human wasteland. (Noah Trump, Franklin Park, Ill.)

The child of Beulah Lake and Alice Walker would have never crossed the street in their lifetime. (Bee Walker, New York, N.Y.)

The child of Lawrence Hill and B. Michael would have never crossed the street in their lifetime. (B. Michael, New York, N.Y.)

The child of Lydia and Michael Jackson would have never crossed the street in their lifetime. (William Section, Goshen, N.Y.)

The child of Joe Biden and Barack Obama would have never crossed the street in their lifetime. (Barack Obama, Washington, D.C.)

The child of Will Smith and Cheryl Hines would have never crossed the street in their lifetime. (Cheryl Hines, Austin, Texas)
