A load of carp: Winning complaints

By PAT MORGAN

In Week 1245 (see your local newspaper), you should have found nothing — again. If you did, I welcome you to the club of those who have the same problem as I have — or, I should say, the same problems as we have in common.

I'm talking of those who don't have a computer and have to rely on newspapers for their information. I've been doing this for over 50 years, and I've found that the quality of newspapers has declined dramatically in recent years.

I've been reading the Tribune Content Agency's LA Times Sunday Crossword Puzzle for many years, and I've noticed a decline in the quality of the puzzles. The puzzles are often too easy, and the clues are often too vague. I've also noticed that the puzzles are often too long, and it takes me a long time to complete them.

I've been trying to get in touch with the Tribune Content Agency, but I haven't been able to get a response. I've tried their website, but I haven't been able to find any contact information.

I'm hoping that someone who has read this can help me. I'm trying to get in touch with the Tribune Content Agency, but I haven't been able to get a response. I'm hoping that someone who has read this can help me.

Thank you for your time.
