Now contest for Week 1251: Thanking outside the box

I'm thankful that dogs don't know everyone else hates you. (Dave Provar)

... that they don't allow remote controls at the movie theater. (Steven S.)

Four weeks from now, it's going to be Thanksgiving weekend, and - whoo, suee - they start going around the hallway passed outgiving away tins to everyone and making you inappropriate noises to jog you up? No worries - we've been here before, so we did it.

This week: Tell us something to be thankful for, as in the example above from Week 681. You may attribute your thanks to handiwork to someone else.

Submit entries at this website: wapsi.com/enter-invite.

Winner gets the Love Cannon, our new Style Invitational trophy. Second prize, three entries, in just a few days too late for Thanksgiving, a fine flash pop-tart maker.
