Gulp fiction: Fake trivia about food

BY PAT MYERS

In Week 134, The Style featured the third leg of our biweekly battle of bad puns with some trivia questions about food. Most people were happy for a while. (Some people were happy for a while) As you wade through this week’s puzzle, please remember that some people (and not just some people) were happy for a while. No people (and not just some people) were happy for a while. As you wade through this week’s puzzle, please remember that some people (and not just some people) were happy for a while. No people (and not just some people) were happy for a while.