Style Invitational Week 1202: Don’t be afraid of the dark — a song parody contest

Give us a song about hope — we need it. Plus the "plain English" winners.

Two days before the election, the Empress went to see the musical “Carousel” at Arena Stage. It’s a top-notch production by any measure, but since Nov. 8, emotions must be exploding inside the D.C. theater, onstage and off, as voices and orchestra swell in Rodgers and Hammerstein’s majestic finale, “You’ll Never Walk Alone”: “Walk on through the wind, walk on through the rain, though your dreams be tossed and blown.” This week: Write lyrics to a song that, in some way, express hope; set them to a well-known tune. You don’t have to be sappy; you may even be cynical (you know us). But the theme: hope. Just stick up your chin and grin — at least we’ll have something to sing in four weeks while we’re scrubbing off the graffiti.

Submit entries at this website: bit.ly/enter-invite-1202. Feel free to include a link to an audio or video clip to the tune you’re using. Or you can even make your own recording.

Winner gets the Inkin’ Memorial, the Lincoln statue bobblehead that is the official Style Invitational trophy. Second place receives something a lot of people would like to get their hands on right now: this fabulously squishy, gel-filled Stress Man.
squeezy thing. It's labeled “boss.” Donated — some time back — by Dave Prevar.

Other runners-up win their choice of the yearned-for “This Is Your Brain on Mugs” Loser mug or our Grossery Bag, “I Got a B in Punmanship.” Honorable mentions get one of our lusted-after Loser magnets, “Magnet Dum Laude” or “Falling Jest Short.” First Offenders receive a smelly tree-shaped air “freshener” (FirStink for their first ink). Deadline is Monday night, Dec. 5 (you have an extra week!); results published Dec. 18 (online Dec. 21). You may submit up to 25 entries per contest (really, I bet someone out there will send me 25 songs this week). See general contest rules and guidelines at wapo.st/InvRules. The “Transquiptions” headline is by Tom Witte; the honorable-mentions subhead is by Chris Doyle. Join the lively Style Invitational Devotees group on Facebook at on.fb.me/invdev. “Like” the Style Invitational Ink of the Day on Facebook at bit.ly/inkofday; follow @StyleInvite on Twitter.

The Style Conversational: The Empress’s weekly online column discusses each new contest and set of results. Especially for song parody guidance this week, check it out at bit.ly/conv-1202.
And from The Style Invitational four weeks ago . . .

TRANSQUIPTIONS: WINNING ‘PLAIN ENGLISH’ TRANSLATIONS FROM WEEK 1198

In Week 1198 we asked readers to find a sentence in that week’s Post or another newspaper and to translate it into “plain English,” free of spin, obfuscation or just plain lying. Some entrants’ translations snarkily assumed an election outcome other than the one that occurred; to those Losers, I hope that being robbed of ink is the biggest thing you have to be upset about all week.

4th place:

“Kaine said there’s nothing in his life or emails he’d be ‘overly embarrassed about’ and said he’s determined not to be distracted.”
Translation: Kaine admits having no life. (Neal Starkman, Seattle)

3rd place:

From a classified ad: “Oil Painting: Man and Camel — $110 Original, in beautiful gold frame.”
Translation: “I don’t know how to use Craigslist.” (Kevin Dopart, Washington)

2nd place

and the Hillary Laughing Pen:
“How does one face the absurdity of existence in a cold, indifferent universe, where time’s arrow points inexorably toward death and the only certainties are loss and sorrow?”
Translation: What do you mean you’re out of the pumpkin spice ones?!!” (Danielle Nowlin, Fairfax Station, Va.)

And the winner of the Inkin’ Memorial:

On China’s plan to rate its citizens: “Imagine a world where an authoritarian government monitors everything you do, amasses huge amounts of data on almost every interaction you make, and awards you a single score that measures how “trustworthy” you are.”
Translation: “Imagine how you got your own credit rating.” (Kevin Dopart)

Tossed in translation: honorable mentions

From a job posting: “Capable of crafting and executing an organized sales plan.”
Translation: “Willing to cheat your own grandmother.” (Jon Gearhart, Des Moines)

A Nobel Prize committee member about Bob Dylan’s refusal to acknowledge receiving the literature award: “One can say that it is impolite and arrogant.”
Translation: “What a douche.” (Hildy Zampella, Falls Church, Va.)
Nationals General Manager Mike Rizzo: “We can go in a lot of different directions to improve our ballclub.”

FBI Director James Comey: “Given that we don’t know the significance of this newly discovered collection of emails, I don’t want to create a misleading impression.”

Metro General Manager Paul Wiedefeld on planning SafeTrack: “In a perfect world, you would study it for a year and come up with this.”

0% Interest for 4 Years on All Products

“I love Florida, this is my second home.”

“Scientists say that the Ross Sea has hardly been touched by humans and as such is a perfect laboratory,”

“Are you an expert-level Help Desk professional who is passionate about leading highly effective teams to support more than 5,000 users?”

“Lyft Inc. co-founder and President John Zimmer denied reports the ride-sharing firm is for sale and said it has more than doubled its ridership in the U.S. since late last year, with 17 million rides in October.”

“U.S. officials, speaking on the condition of anonymity to discuss an operation that has not been acknowledged, said the drones being flown out of Tunisia . . . .”

“Hey, look! Nobody’s ever touched this stuff! Let’s touch it!” (Marri Penning Coleman, Falls Church, Va.)

“Here’s an important rule to remember: If you ever find yourself in Antarctica near the Mount Erebus lava lake, don’t take your eyes off it.”

“After one of the most egregious cases of domestic violence among National Football League players two years ago . . . the league vowed a not-again, get-tough approach.”

“Here’s an important rule to remember: Nature documentarians enjoy humblebragging.” (Jeff Contompasis, Ashburn, Va.)

“U.S. officials, speaking on the condition of anonymity to discuss an operation that has not been acknowledged, said the drones being flown out of Tunisia . . . .”

“Even though that’s what I’m obviously doing.” (Joe Neff, Warrington, Pa.; William Kennard, Arlington, Va.)

“0% Interest for 4 Years on All Products”

“Are you looking to avoid any life outside of work?” (Jon Gearhart)

“Lyft Inc. is for sale.” (Francis Canavan, Reston, Va.)

“Enjoy that Internet porn!” (Mark Raffman, on travel in Vietnam)

“You have a hobby you love, so make it okay to dedicate some hours to this pastime.”

“We’ve seen 0% interest in our products for the past 4 years” (Mike Gips, Bethesda, Md.)

“We brought the Metro map to happy hour and threw darts at it over a couple of Coronas.” (Hildy Zampella)

“Hey, look! Nobody’s ever touched this stuff! Let’s touch it!” (Marri Penning Coleman, Falls Church, Va.)

“Here’s an important rule to remember: Nature documentarians enjoy humblebragging.” (Jeff Contompasis, Ashburn, Va.)

“U.S. officials, speaking on the condition of anonymity to discuss an operation that has not been acknowledged, said the drones being flown out of Tunisia . . . .”

“Even though that’s what I’m obviously doing.” (Joe Neff, Warrington, Pa.; William Kennard, Arlington, Va.)

“0% Interest for 4 Years on All Products”

“Are you looking to avoid any life outside of work?” (Jon Gearhart)

“Lyft Inc. is for sale.” (Francis Canavan, Reston, Va.)

“Enjoy that Internet porn!” (Mark Raffman, on travel in Vietnam)
“Do you need more storage space?”
Translation: “Do you have too much crap?” (Rob Huffman, Fredericksburg, Va.)

“… is pleased to offer third party financing plans to meet every lifestyle and budget.”
Translation: “… especially the Crippling Debt lifestyle and budget.” (John McCooey, Rehoboth Beach, Del.)

Horoscope: “Your excitement over an upcoming event is truly half the fun.”
Translation: The event will be truly half-fun. (Beverley Sharp, Montgomery, Ala.)

---

Entertainment Alerts
Big stories in the entertainment world as they break.

Sign up

An article quoting President Obama's last State of the Union address: “It’s one of the few regrets of my presidency that rancor and suspicion between the parties has gotten worse instead of better.”
Translation: “Hey!! Who threw that? (Hildy Zampella)

“According to the European Space Agency, radio signals from the ExoMars Schiaparelli lander that were picked up by an Earth telescope and a Mars orbiter suggest that Schiaparelli performed most of its six-minute descent maneuver according to plan.”
Translation: “Mars now has a new crater.” (Jeff Contompasis)

“Such a nasty woman!”
Translation: “Touché.” (Gary Crockett, Chevy Chase, Md.)

And Last: “So instead of crying over all their near misses, maybe Washington sports fans should enjoy their teams that are very good.”
Translation: “The Style Invitational Losers, bringing you the finest in poop jokes since 1993.” (Jeff Contompasis)

---

And Even Laster: “In a recent Style Invitational, one reader went so far as to offer a new definition of autumn: ‘The time of year when one gets a queasy feeling that one’s first-place team will yet again go down to ignominious defeat.’”
Translation: Who cares what they meant! The Invite got quoted in the sports section! (Danielle Nowlin; quote was about Nan Reiner’s Week 1194 runner-up)
Not enough vets claim these amazing VA benefits

What's the Cornerstone of Tyrese's Style? A Great Shoe

Farrah Fawcett Was Stunning In The 70s...But What She Looked Like Before Her Death Is

Get Fully-Curated Clothing Delivered to Your Door

The right clothes for sensitive skin

US could be headed for simplified tax code

Most Read

1  Fake Donald Trump returns to SNL, and the real one is not happy
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>Pence says he ‘wasn’t offended’ by ‘Hamilton’ as Trump continues to demand an apology</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>Sharon Jones, powerful soul singer with throwback style, dies at 60</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>Former nuclear bunker becomes museum of Albanian persecution</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>HBO’s ‘Marathon’ documentary artfully explores a sense of magnitude</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Our Online Games
Play right from this page

- Mahjong Dimensions
  Strategy game

- Spider Solitaire
  Card game

- Daily Crossword
  Word game