Style Invitational Week 1351: What concept will you be for Halloween?

Give us timely costume ideas (or actual photos). Plus ‘humortician’ and other neologisms.

Bury yourself in a pile of raincoats and umbrellas and be an Alabama hurricane victim.

Be a Trump national security adviser: Just change costumes every 10 minutes.

Throw a Democratic primary Halloween party: a bash jammed with so many people, they all get half a piece of candy each and have to yell to be heard.

When the results of this contest run, four weeks from now, it’ll be the weekend before Halloween. So here’s an incentive to put a Loserly spin on the holiday: Give us a creative, clever idea for a timely Halloween costume (for one or more people) or an idea for a party or other activity, either feasible or not so much, as in the examples above provided by Invite Obsessive Duncan Stevens along with his suggestion of this contest. You may even send us a photo of an actual new costume you’ve created this year, so the Empress will extend the usual contest deadline by a week; you have until Oct. 14.

Submit up to 25 entries at wapo.st/enter-invite-1351 (no capitals in the Web address). If you have more than one photo to submit, please use a separate entry form for each photo.

Winner gets the Lose Cannon, our Style Invitational trophy. Second place receives a belly pack that looks like a white man's hairy belly, modeled below by Loser Drew Bennett, who donated it. (The Empress has no idea whether it looks like Drew’s actual bodily gut, and we’ll leave it that way.) It’s actually a high-quality bag, with durable straps and zippers and such. Wearing it as a fanny pack might be even more interesting.

Other runners-up win our “You Gotta Play to Lose” Loser Mug or our “Whole Fools” Grossery Bag. Honorable mentions get one of our lusted-after Loser magnets, “Too-Weak Notice” or “Certificate of (de) Merit.” First Offenders receive only a smelly tree-shaped air “freshener” (FirStink for their first ink). Deadline is Monday, Oct. 14; results published Oct. 27 in print, Oct. 24 online. See general contest rules and guidelines at wapo.st/InvRules. The headline “Redo Unto Others” is by Jon Gearhart; Chris Doyle wrote the honorable-mentions subhead. Join the lively Style

Redo unto others: The 'reologisms' of Week 1347

In Week 1347, the Empress rounded up a list of zingy neologisms and name-puns that had been entered in earlier contests but needed better new ones. Here are the 'reologisms' of Week 1347.

In Week 1347, the Empress rounded up a list of zingy neologisms and name-puns that had been entered in earlier contests but needed better descriptions — and asked the whole Loser Community to help. It delivered, as you'll see below. Too many people to credit suggested that Marco Pollo met General Tso while crossing the Silk Road and that Richard Outhouse Nixon really needed plumbers.

4th place:
Mediochre: The color of the fifth-place ribbon. (David Peckarsky, Tucson)

3rd place:

Genghis Cohen: “One of my 16 million descendants would be just perfect for your granddaughter!” (Jesse Rifkin)
A. Horatio Algebra.
Q. Who wrote his rags-to-riches stories according to this formula: "X < Y; X impresses Y; Y rewards X; X = Y"? (Lawrence McGuire, Waldorf, Md.)

How deadpan are his jokes? They’re so deadpan we call him the humortician. (David Peckarsky)

Humortician: That oh-so-helpful comedy expert who analyzes why your joke wasn’t funny. (Neal Starkman, Seattle; Jeff Contompasis)

Humortician: Someone who can turn a FUNERAL into REAL FUN. (Jesse Frankovich, Grand Ledge, Mich.)

Ikea Turner: This pop singer’s birth name was Allen Wrench. (Danielle Naulin, Fairfax Station, Va.)

IMHOtep: “With all due respect, mighty Pharaoh, I think the wide part of the pyramid should go at the bottom.” (Jesse Frankovich)

Joan of Arkansas was Bill Clinton’s earliest known girlfriend, until she burned his steak. (Alan Duxbury, Carlisle, Pa.)

A. John F. Kidney.
Q. Who said, “Ich bin ein Uriner!” (Jeff Shirley, Richmond, Va.)

A. Kevin Costco.
Q. Who said, “If you build it, they will come and purchase a ginormous jar of olives?” (Bill Dorner, Indianapolis)

Kindergartener: “Spell ‘cat’? Would you give me the etymology, please?” (Duncan Stevens, Vienna, Va.)
If you carry your crayons in a pocket protector, you might be a Kindergartnered. (Sam Mertens, Silver Spring, Md.; Jesse Frankovich)

A white cop shot an innocent black man in his own home. A judge ruled that ‘castle doctrine’ might protect her.

Castle doctrine usually protects gun owners defending their own home. A Texas judge allowed a Dallas police officer to use the defense after shooting a black man in his home.

To David Chang, the ‘ethnic’ food aisle is racist. Others say it’s convenient.

Chang says dedicating a particular supermarket aisle to international foods is segregation.
